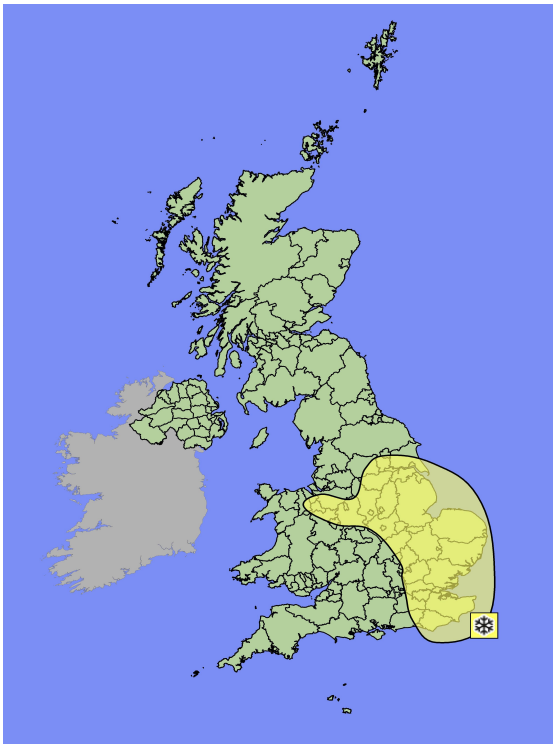
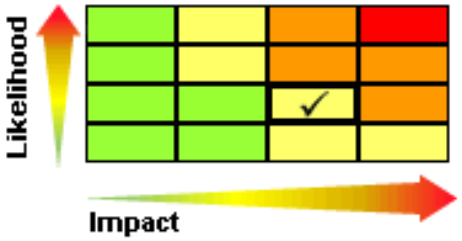
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
Part of a frontal zone affecting France on Saturday is expected to move northwards into southeastern and eastern England, as well as parts of north Wales and the north Midlands, during Sunday, perhaps reaching as far as Yorkshire by the end of the day. This frontal zone will lead to some snowfall, although the exact westward and northward extent of this remains rather uncertain.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Snow

Valid from 12:00 on Sun, 20th Jan 2013 until 23:59 on Sun, 20th Jan 2013

A band of snow is likely to spread northwards across parts of southeastern and eastern England, as well as parts of north Wales and the north Midlands, during Sunday afternoon and evening. This will bring accumulations of 2-5 cm snow to some areas, and perhaps in excess of 8 cm towards coastal counties of southeast and eastern England. The public should be aware of the risk of disruption to travel.

This warning has been reissued on Saturday evening to include parts of north Wales and the North Midlands.
